

began his service in the medical field as an Army medic during World War II. After leaving the Army, he studied at the University of West Virginia, the University of Florida, and then received his doctor of medicine degree from the Medical College of Virginia.

He served his patients with compassion and care in the Tampa Bay area as an internist at Mease Hospital, and after just 8 years he was elected to lead the medical staff.

Dr. Hale was a proactive practitioner, realizing and emphasizing the importance of preventative health care in the community. After retiring from active practice, Dr. Hale founded the Dunedin Hypertension Screening Program in 1975 to screen elderly patients for medical disorders. His program garnered attention from his colleagues throughout the world and took root on a state level as the Florida Geriatric Research Program.

Dr. Hale was much more than just an excellent and innovative physician. Those who know him point to his caring nature. He was quick to help those who needed it the most, be it handicapped children, someone undergoing a difficult time in life, or arming the public with information on how to be healthier. He saw the needs of others and selflessly gave of himself so that they could live better.

Mr. Speaker, the Tampa Bay area was so blessed to have Dr. Hale's talent and graces. May his spirit always live on in the hearts of those he touched.

CONGRATULATING THE SHELTON VIKINGS MIDGET AND PEE WEE CHEERLEADERS ON THEIR NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP TITLES

HON. ROSA L. DeLAURO

OF CONNECTICUT

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, January 19, 2011

Ms. DeLAURO. Mr. Speaker, it is with great pleasure that I rise today to pay tribute to the Shelton Vikings Midget and Pee Wee Cheerleading squads who captured the National Championship titles in their divisions at the Pop Warner National Competition which was held last month in Buena Vista, Florida. This is a remarkable accomplishment for these young girls and we could not be more proud of them!

The Viking Midget Cheerleading squad is a group of thirteen and fourteen year old girls who have been cheering together since age seven. The Pee Wee team is made up of ten to twelve year old girls. During this past season, each of these squads have won the titles of Southern Connecticut Champions, Connecticut State Champions, New England Qualifier Champions and New England Regional Champions. In their first ever trip to the National Championships, the Midget Cheerleading squad competed against nineteen other squads from across the country to take home the title and the Pee Wee squad competed against eight other teams to do the same. These are the first ever National titles for Shelton and, for the Midget squad, it is even more meaningful because it was the last year that they will be eligible to compete in the Pop Warner Cheerleading league.

These girls are an extraordinarily talented group who have dedicated countless hours to practice and competition. Cheerleading, like so many other sports, requires perseverance, training, coordination, and above all teamwork—all skills that will continue to serve these young women well throughout their lives. Their success at the National Championships is a testament to all of their hard work.

I would also like to take a moment to extend a special note of thanks and appreciation to the coaches, parents, and volunteers whose support has enabled the girls to practice and travel for their competitions. Without their efforts, the success of the Vikings Cheerleaders would not be possible.

I am thrilled to join the Shelton community in extending my sincere congratulations and very best wishes to the Shelton Vikings Midget and Pee Wee Cheerleaders—2010 Pop Warner National Champions. You have made us all proud!

TRIBUTE TO CHARLES SUMNER, BORN JANUARY 6, 1811

HON. MICHAEL E. CAPUANO

OF MASSACHUSETTS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, January 19, 2011

Mr. CAPUANO. Mr. Speaker, I rise to pay tribute to Charles Sumner and I join with many of my constituents in celebrating the bicentennial of his birth, January 6, 2011. Commemorations are sponsored by the Longfellow House-Washington's Headquarters National Site, the Boston African American National Historic Site, the Museum of African American History, the Massachusetts Historical Society, and other learned societies and civic groups.

Charles Sumner was born in Boston and educated at Boston Latin School, Harvard College and Harvard Law School. Like many educated Bostonians of his time, he was interested in events in Europe, where he travelled extensively between 1837 and 1840. Later, he and his friend Henry Wadsworth Longfellow would compare slaveholders in the American south to aristocrats whose privileges were swept away by revolution on the continent. Sumner returned to help found the Free Soil Party but he did not succeed in election to this House in 1848. He was elected to the Senate two years later on the Free Soil Ticket. In 1856, Sumner, who refused to compromise on the issue of slavery, was savagely beaten on the floor of the Senate. Interests might be conciliated but about rights he was adamant. Massachusetts re-elected him, as a Republican, while his recovery was still in doubt, so that his empty seat would serve as a reproach to slaveholders. He returned to serve until his death in 1874.

I am grateful to John Stauffer, chair of the History of American Civilization and professor of English and African and African American Studies at Harvard University, for suggesting Ralph Waldo Emerson's tribute: Sumner's moral instinct and character are so exceptionally pure that he must have perpetual magnetism for honest men; his ability and working energy such, that every good friend of the Republic must stand by him.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. JOHN B. LARSON

OF CONNECTICUT

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, January 19, 2011

Mr. LARSON of Connecticut. Mr. Speaker, on January 18, 2011, I missed rollcall vote 12. Had I been present, I would have voted "yea" or "aye."

TRIBUTE TO ARIEL B. WALDMAN

HON. ADAM B. SCHIFF

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, January 19, 2011

Mr. SCHIFF. Mr. Speaker, for myself and Mr. GOODLATTE, as the Chair and Ranking Member respectively of the Committee on the Judiciary's Task Force on Judicial Impeachment in the previous Congress, we would like to take this opportunity to recognize Arid B. Waldman who recently left the House to take a position with the Office of the Attorney General for the District of Columbia. Mr. Waldman served in the Office of the General Counsel for 18 months as an Assistant Counsel. We will miss him.

Mr. Waldman provided important legal advice and representation to the Committee and Task Force, particularly in connection with federal court litigation that arose out of an impeachment investigation and proceeding involving a federal judge from Louisiana. We and our respective staffs relied on his expertise and judgment to prepare legal pleadings and briefs, which ably and effectively defended the Task Force's ability to conduct its inquiry, and which resulted in rulings favorable to the Committee and Task Force in each instance.

Mr. Waldman served the House with distinction, and we know he will serve the Office of the Attorney General for the District of Columbia with that same level of distinction. We thank him for his service to the House and extend to him our very best wishes for his continued success.

STOP THE OVERPRINTING (STOP) ACT

SPEECH OF

HON. LAURA RICHARDSON

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, January 18, 2011

Ms. RICHARDSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take a few minutes today to discuss the continued need in Congress for reduced administrative spending and increased accountability to the American people.

In a time when we are keenly aware of the need for civility and cooperation in order to improve the American quality of life, I believe there is at least one thing both Democrats and Republicans can agree on and which should be the springboard towards meaningful change.

This belief is that the federal government has an obligation to the American people to be stewards of their hard-earned taxpayer dollars by operating in an efficient manner and to reduce spending whenever possible.

For this reason, I support bills like H.R. 292, the Stop the OverPrinting Act, which will help eliminate the wasteful production of unnecessary copies of bills and resolutions in Congress.

The STOP Act will not only do its part for the environment by reducing Congress' paper consumption, but it will also take a step, even if just a small one, towards more efficient operations, increased accountability and reduced government spending. As we are all aware in this economy, every little bit helps.

The STOP Act was introduced by my colleague from across the aisle, the honorable gentleman from New York, CHRISTOPHER LEE. I am happy to stand in bipartisan support and know that there will be many opportunities in the future to find common ground and remain accountable to the hard working citizens we represent.

In fact, I would like to mention one such opportunity I offered during the 111th Congress and which I plan to reintroduce in the 112th, the Cost Recovery and Fair Value for Services Act. This legislation will help us meet our obligation to the American people by ensuring that the federal agencies within the executive branch set their user fees for services provided at rates that are both equitable and cost-effective.

This act would require the chief financial officer of every federal agency to provide a report to the director of the Office of Management and Budget which would review fees charged for services provided and make recommendations based on equitability with consideration to a user's ability to pay and the extent to which the use of the service provides a public benefit.

By setting appropriate user fee rates, agencies can contribute to the shared fiscal responsibility that our current economic situation demands without overburdening the public or inhibiting public engagement.

It is my hope that when this legislation arrives on the House floor, colleagues from both parties will share the same bipartisan spirit I exhibit today and support my efforts to control wasteful spending and restore fiscal accountability.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE FIRST FRIDAY GROUP

HON. RON PAUL

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, January 19, 2011

Mr. PAUL. Mr. Speaker, on January 7, 2011 the First Friday Group (FFG) of Matagorda County celebrated its 20th anniversary. I am pleased to extend my congratulations to the organizers of the FFG for 20 years of service to the people of Matagorda County.

FFG provides a monthly forum for the citizens of Matagorda County to discuss their activities and issues affecting their community. As the name suggests, FFG's meetings take place on the first Friday of the month at 6:30 a.m. The meetings are currently held at the Thyme & Again restaurant in Bay City, Texas. The meetings are open to the public, and anyone is free to participate. Attendance typically runs from 25 to 40 people.

FFG is in many ways a modern town hall meeting. Attendees typically include national, state and local elected officials, representatives from the Matagorda County Chamber of Commerce, local business owners, developers, industrial plant managers, agriculture and agri-businesses, educators, religious leaders and state agencies.

The FFG meetings have two unique features that ensure everyone with something of interest to the community has a chance to participate. First, there is never a "program" or a set list of speakers chosen by the FFG. Instead, each meeting is conducted in a "Round the Room Format," that gives each attendee a chance to talk about their activities. Secondly, speakers are asked to limit their remarks to two or three minutes in order to make sure that everyone who wants to speak has the chance. While the time limits may appear to make it difficult to convey all relevant information about an activity, regular attendees say that most speakers can convey a remarkable amount of information in a very short period of time.

In conclusion, Mr. Speaker, I once again extend congratulations to the founders and organizers of the First Friday Group for providing a forum for the citizens of Matagorda County to exchange information about their various projects which are aimed at improving life in Matagorda County.

EVERETT & DARLA SANDERSON

HON. TED POE

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, January 19, 2011

Mr. POE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, today I am proud to honor businessman and community leader Everett Sanderson and his wife Darla for their efforts on behalf of Southeast Texas, particularly for their assistance to first responders during the critical first days after Hurricanes Rita and Ike.

In the span of three short years, from 2005 to 2008, the upper Texas coast was struck by two monstrous hurricanes that caused billions of dollars of damage and took multiple lives. Countless homes and businesses were destroyed. Debris and downed trees and power lines filled the streets, making travel extremely dangerous. Power and water services were off. It was a dire situation, indeed.

Tens of thousands Southeast Texans evacuated to safer ground, but a handful of individuals rode the storm out in order to start the clean up and restoration immediately. These first responders worked unending shifts with little resources available. A hot meal was difficult to find, until the Sandersons stepped in and opened their damaged restaurant for the brave souls who decided to stay.

Everett Sanderson was born and raised in Nederland, TX. A 1985 graduate from Baylor University Law School, he has practiced in Jefferson County since. He is an active member of the community, serving on the Nederland Independent School Board of Trustees, Jefferson County Bar Association Board of Directors, and the Mid-County YMCA Board of Directors, among many others. He was named Mr. Nederland in 2006. Sanderson and his wife Darla have two children, Jordan and Michelle.

In 2003, the Sandersons found time to open a restaurant in Nederland, Sanderson's Restaurant and Bar. It was an instant hit, serving everything from seafood to barbeque to salads and everything in between. It was here, in the first hours after the hurricanes passed, that they decided to open their doors for first responders from the police, fire departments, Red Cross, FEMA, and other organizations. Pulling in resources from wherever they could, the Sandersons provided food and some peace of mind. One day during the aftermath of Hurricane Rita, they served over 6,500 first responders.

On behalf of the Second Congressional District of Texas, I would like to commend Everett and Darla Sanderson for their hard work and dedication to make the first responders feel at home during this trying time. The Sandersons' hearts are bigger than their chicken fried steak, and if you have seen their chicken fried steak, you would know that is quite the compliment.

And that's just the way it is.

CELEBRATING THE DR. MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR. DAY OF SERVICE

HON. DORIS O. MATSUI

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, January 19, 2011

Ms. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, this Monday our Nation celebrated the life of Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Together we honored Dr. King's legacy with a national day of service.

Dr. King taught us many important lessons during his life—the greatest of all being that violence and hatred will get us nowhere, but love, service, and kindness for our fellow man can guide our Nation to overcome its most considerable struggles. While Dr. King was motivated by a period of division in our Nation's history, we know today that his lessons transcend all challenges. In this spirit, we pay tribute to the life and works of Dr. King, through participation in community service on the third Monday of January, each year.

Mr. Speaker, I submit to the record the following piece by Ambassador of Service for the Corporation for National and Community Service MLK Day, my colleague from Georgia, the Honorable JOHN LEWIS, and CEO of the Corporation for National and Community Service, Patrick Corvington, on the importance of national service.

Ever since former Sen. Harris Wofford and I introduced legislation in the Congress that transformed the King Holiday into a National Day of Service, one question periodically arises: Do Americans view the King Holiday primarily as a day on or a day off? Are they commemorating the legacy of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. with their extra time or simply getting extra sleep? Clearly, there are kids who will joyfully spend their day in front of their Xboxes, and shoppers who will rush to a department store sale on the holiday.

But as the life of Dr. King and the movement that he led demonstrate, ordinary people with extraordinary vision working in the corners of their communities can have an impact that reverberates throughout America. These tiny ripples of human compassion can build into waves that cleanse and heal the wounds of a Nation.
